

Now we need to specify the local machine drive location to install Android Studio and Android SDK. After selecting the location path to install the required components, click Next like as shown below.

Now select the start menu folder to create a shortcut for android studio and click Install like as shown below.